BIO

As an introvert with a side dish of social anxiety, the stage may feel like the last place you'd find Kass, but these quirks pale in comparison to her passion for helping people, especially introverts, live out their faith at work, in their marriage and in their friendships.

An experienced speaker for both the Christian and Business markets, Kass is ready to inspire, encourage, and challenge your audience. From teens, to ladies' or couples' retreats to leadership gatherings, workshops and conference breakout sessions, Kass has a program to fit your theme and needs.
